

capit: head

pel/puls: drive/push/urge duct/duc: lead/take/bring

- capricious (adj.): impulsive and unpredictable
- capitulate (verb): to give into something after resisting for a period of time
- decapitate (verb): cut the head off
- capital (noun): wealth in the form of money or property owned by a person or business
- impel (verb): to urge to action; to motivate
- compel (verb): to force someone to do something; to drive someone to action; to exert a strong, irresistible force on
- dispel (verb): to force out of one's mind; to go away
- expel (verb): to force to leave
- conducive (adj.): tending to cause or bring about; being partly responsible for
- deduce (verb): to reach a conclusion by reasoning; to infer; to lead to a conclusion
- aqueduct (noun): a channel that brings water from a remote source
- traduce (verb): speak unfavorably about; badmouth