

super/sur: over or above

- superb (adjective): splendid; excellent; beyond the expected
- superimpose (verb): to lay or place something over something else
- superintendent (noun): a person who directs and manages an organization
- superior (adjective/noun): above average in quality; excellent
- supervise (verb): watch and direct
- supersede (verb): take the place or move into the position of
- superfluous (adjective): more than is needed, desired, or required
- surpass (verb): to pass over others; do or be better than others (or self)
- surcharge (noun/verb): an amount of money that must be paid in addition to the regular price (example: late fee, convenience fee, ATM, etc.)
- survey (verb): look carefully and thoroughly over something
- surname (noun): name over all in a family (last name)
- surreal (adjective): resembling a dream; beyond what is real or believable; bizarre

super/sur: over or above

- superb (adjective): splendid; excellent; beyond the expected
- superimpose (verb): to lay or place something over something else
- superintendent (noun): a person who directs and manages an organization
- superior (adjective/noun): above average in quality; excellent
- supervise (verb): watch and direct
- supersede (verb): take the place or move into the position of
- superfluous (adjective): more than is needed, desired, or required
- surpass (verb): to pass over others; do or be better than others (or self)
- surcharge (noun/verb): an amount of money that must be paid in addition to the regular price (example: late fee, convenience fee, ATM, etc.)
- survey (verb): look carefully and thoroughly over something
- surname (noun): name over all in a family (last name)
- surreal (adjective): resembling a dream; beyond what is real or believable; bizarre