

Un/Dis: not/none

- discontinue (verb): to end something; to not use anymore; cease
- dismal (adjective): no good; depressing; bleak
- disobedient (adjective): not following the rules
- disposable (noun): an item that can be disposed of after it has been used
- unconscious (adjective): not within thought; as if asleep or dead
- unworthy (adjective): not deserving; not having any values
- disregard (verb): to pay no attention to; ignore
- discredit (verb): to refuse to accept; disbelieve
- disgrace (noun): shame; loss of the good opinion of others
- uncanny (adjective): strange or mysterious; surpassing the ordinary or normal
- undesirable (adjective): not wanted
- unwary (adjective): not alert to danger or deception

Un/Dis: not/none

- discontinue (verb): to end something; to not use anymore; cease
- dismal (adjective): no good; depressing; bleak
- disobedient (adjective): not following the rules
- disposable (noun): an item that can be disposed of after it has been used
- unconscious (adjective): not within thought; as if asleep or dead
- unworthy (adjective): not deserving; not having any values
- disregard (verb): to pay no attention to; ignore
- discredit (verb): to refuse to accept; disbelieve
- disgrace (noun): shame; loss of the good opinion of others
- uncanny (adjective): strange or mysterious; surpassing the ordinary or normal
- undesirable (adjective): not wanted
- unwary (adjective): not alert to danger or deception